

Resume - Ylva Weissbach

Ylva Weissbach is a Sustainability Business Expert at H&M Group focusing on Chemical Management. Her academic background is M.Sc. in Environmental Science, Ecotoxicology at Lund University, Sweden. She has an extensive knowledge of working proactively with reducing the use of hazardous chemicals within the fashion industry and has been with H&M Group for 13 years. Currently she is responsible for setting the H&M Group Chemical Agenda, envisioning a toxic free fashion future. Included in her role is also representing H&M Group in several industry initiatives with the overall aim to ensure safe and toxic free chemical input in the fashion industry. She is advocating for common, yet progressive tools to clearly monitor and improve the industry's performance to secure safe chemical input and in the long run, a circular textile economy.